Energy Equity Investments have more than doubled in 2006 and this market has been described as “the biggest economic opportunity of the 21st century.”

- The drivers are clear:
- Carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases are reaching unprecedented levels
- 2007 is forecast to be the warmest year on record
- 10 years of peer-reviewed studies unanimously agree humans are causing global warming
- Many claim we have only 10 years to avoid a catastrophic tipping point
- Status Quo is not an acceptable solution, and
- Someone will fund the evolution and adaptation to the new environment

Headlines may be driving home the reality of global warming and its effects on our lives but can you do anything about it?

Join us to understand the issues, options and how to participate in the coming energy economy. It is mature yet emergent segments; volatile yet predictable trends, entry barriers yet abundant markets. It is opportunity.
